On-Going Opportunities:

- A. Appalachian Behavioral Health. Contact George Eberts at 740-589-4027 or eberts@ohio.edu

This is a psychiatric hospital located in Athens which serves approximately 75-100 in-patient clients. If you have a particular interest in working with persons' with mental health disabilities, contact George Eberts to arrange a volunteer opportunity or internship. Also, they are seeking churches that would like to host chapel for patients Sundays in January and April 2010.

- B. Appalachian Community Visiting Nurse Association and Hospice, contact Christie Truly, Volunteer Coordinator, 594-8226, ext. 475 or email to ctruly@acvna.org.

A volunteer is needed for a short-term marketing opportunity. Volunteer Services needs a new brochure for recruitment purposes. They also need a brochure for our new Athens Village program for seniors living in place. These will be basic brochures that they can print at their office.

- C. Community Action – <http://www.hapcap.org>. Community action is the umbrella organization over the following programs. Each of these programs has volunteer opportunities and particular coordinators to contact directly.

- Meals on Wheels programs (at the Southeast Regional Food Center)- Contact Marilyn Sloan at 1-800-385-6813 or msloan@hapcap.org

They utilize volunteers Monday - Friday from 7am until 1 p.m. They will open on Saturday mornings for a committed Group. Volunteers pack and prepare food for the Backpack Kids program, which provides weekly lunches to over 1000 kids and the Build a Boxes for Senior Program which provides food to over 4000 seniors per month.

- Weatherization Program – Contact Greg Andrews at 740-753-3062.

Individual or small groups of volunteers are needed to assist work crews that weatherize homes in a tri-county area. Crews go out during the day Monday – Friday to assist low to moderate income families. The goal is to weatherize 450 homes over the next 20 months including air leakage reduction and insulation. The average saving to home owners is a 30% reduction to energy consumptions.

- D. Good Works - www.good-works.net

Are you concerned about people struggling with poverty in Athens County? Would you like to spend a few hours a week helping at-risk children, helping out at a homeless shelter or visiting with widows at their homes? Want to help teach a computer class, support our weekly community meal or help build a building? Started by an OU student during his senior year, Good Works, Inc. has been providing a community of HOPE for the rural homeless and others struggling with poverty since 1981. Please visit the Good Works web page (www.good-works.net) and click on Volunteer Opportunities.

E. Habitat for Humanity, general contact Ed Baum, 740-592-0032. See other specifics below.

There are 2 homes currently being built in the Athens area and volunteers are needed. Volunteers donate their time on Wednesdays and Saturdays. No previous experience is necessary. The people coordinating these projects will teach you what you need to know and provide supplies. As an aside, the persons' volunteering to manage these projects are all retired staff or faculty at OU.

Rotarac of Athens is recruiting volunteers to assist in many community projects. ROTARACT was founded in 1968 by ROTARY INTERNATIONAL, a worldwide association of service-minded business and professional leaders. Today there are over 6,000 Rotary-supported ROTARACT clubs with more than 130,000 members in some 120 countries around the world. Clubs are either community-based or university-based. The Rotary Club of Athens serves as the sponsor to the local ROTARACT.

- I. Service Living – check out <http://serviceliving.wordpress.com> or contact Heidi Bender at (517)896-1856.

Service Living was launched in the Fall of '09 in a collaborative effort between Good Works, Inc., the Ohio University, and the communities of greater Athens county as a means of connecting first year college students with the people of Southeast Ohio through immersive service opportunities. Students commit on a quarterly basis to weekly projects in the community which range from planting gardens for individuals struggling with food security, to helping low-income families to build their own homes, to spending time with the elderly or disabled, or preparing and eating a meal with residents of a local homeless shelter. You can learn more about Service Living and about our 7 current projects through our website: <http://serviceliving.wordpress.com>.
