1. Find this book in the catalog and print out the long record:

Where is the item located? Is it available for checkout? Circle this information.

2. Locate the following article and print the first page:

3. View the following webpage and use the “Reviewing Resources” document to assess whether the web resource is a valid or invalid academic resource. Use the space below to indicate your response and to record the process you used to determine the validity:

http://www.cdc.gov/Features/CollegeHealth/
1. Find this book in the catalog and print out the long record:

Where is the item located? Is it available for checkout? Circle this information.

2. Locate the following article and print the first page:

3. View the following webpage and use the “Reviewing Resources” document to assess whether the web resource is a valid or invalid academic resource. Use the space below to indicate your response and to record the process you used to determine the validity:

http://www.collegedrinkingprevention.gov/
1. Find this book in the catalog and print out the long record:

Where is the item located? Is it available for checkout? Circle this information.

2. Locate the following article and print the first page:

Psychological Science in the Public Interest, 9(3), 105-119.

3. View the following webpage and use the “Reviewing Resources” document to assess whether the web resource is a valid or invalid academic resource. Use the space below to indicate your response and to record the process you used to determine the validity: