

Ohio University's 2009 Clery Act Compliance Report

Ohio University is a state-assisted institution of higher education located in Athens, Ohio, with regional campuses in Belmont County (Eastern), Ironton (Southern), Chillicothe, Lancaster, Pickerington, Proctorville and Zanesville.

Ohio University is committed to assisting all members of the Ohio University community in providing for their own safety and security. The annual security compliance document is available on the OUPD website at www.ohiou.edu/police.

Our website and booklet contain information regarding campus security and personal safety including topics such as: crime prevention, University police law enforcement authority, crime reporting policies, disciplinary procedures and other matters of importance related to security on the Athens campus only.

In addition we have included crime statistics for the Athens and regional campuses for the three previous calendar years summarizing crimes that occurred on campus, and on public property within, or immediately adjacent to and accessible from, campus.

Campus Law Enforcement Authority

The Ohio University Police Department is a full service law enforcement agency, operating 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, located at 135 Scott Quadrangle. The department is staffed with 25 sworn police officers commissioned by the state of Ohio to serve and protect the University community. The department also employs 7 full time civilian personnel. Investigations of criminal conduct and violations of university policy are conducted in a timely and professional manner with prosecution and referrals to the criminal justice system or other appropriate entities when applicable. The department is also responsible for issuing timely warnings of crimes that pose a threat to the campus community. The department also works closely with other federal, state, municipal and university departments to enhance the level of law enforcement service available to the university community and to provide those who may be the victim of criminal actions or emergency situations information regarding university options available to them.

Ohio University believes that eliminating or minimizing criminal opportunities helps prevent crime. Partnerships have been established with students and employees to identify potential areas of victimization and options for appropriate response. Police officers engage in visible patrol and also present programs along with Residential Housing staff and other groups on campus to help community members reduce their chances of becoming a victim of crime.

Reporting of Criminal Activity and Other Emergencies

Procedures and Facilities to Report Criminal Actions or Other Emergencies

Students, employees, visitors and community members are strongly encouraged to report incidents of criminal conduct, suspicious behavior or emergencies to the Ohio University Police Department by telephone (740) 593-1911 or in person at 135 Scott Quadrangle as soon as possible. Emergency telephones are located at the main entrance of all residence halls and select locations throughout campus. The phones are recognizable by the blue lights located above each phone. Emergency phones provide direct access to the Ohio University Police Department and can be used to access other emergency services.

Confidential Reporting

Ohio University encourages anyone who is the victim of/or witness to, any crime to promptly report the incident. With such information, the University can take steps to help ensure the future safety of the campus by keeping an accurate record of the number of incidents involving students. Determining where there is a pattern of crime with regard to a particular location, method, or assailant, and alerting the campus community to potential danger are also benefits of such information. Please note that, because police reports are public record under state law, the Ohio University Police Department cannot hold reports of crime in confidence. Crime reports made to Ohio University health care and mental health professionals can generally be kept confidential, although reports will be included in the annual disclosure of crime statistics.

Community Emergency Notifications

The following methods of communication are available and may be utilized in the event of a campus emergency. The usage of these tools will be dependent upon the particular set of circumstances present during the situation or incident. Not every communication tool will be utilized in every situation. The Ohio University Police Department in conjunction with the Critical Incident Response Team (CIRT) may initiate the communications tools listed.

Outdoor Emergency Notification System (Siren/PA system):

An outdoor emergency notification system (audible siren/pa) has been installed on the Athens Campus and may be used for notifying the campus community of weather-related situations or other emergency situations as deemed necessary by the University. There are six locations where the outdoor emergency notification system will sound from (or each site may be activated independently). An outdoor emergency notification will start with the sounding of a pre-programmed tone and continue with a verbal announcement either pre-recorded or live.

An audible educational test of the outdoor emergency notification system occurs the 2nd Friday following the start of each quarter.

Emergency Event Notification System (Voice/Text Messaging/Email):

Ohio University's Emergency Event Notification System allows authorized users to send automated emergency notifications via voice message, e-mail, and SMS (text message) in situations as deemed necessary and appropriate. There will be times where this system will be used in conjunction with the campus outdoor emergency notification system and other times where it will be used with other communication methods or as the sole method of communications.

The University tests the emergency event notification system quarterly.

Email

The University's email system may be used as a mode of communication. The email system allows a more thorough explanation of the situation be delivered to everyone's email address at Ohio University. Instructions or protective steps may also be given through email.

Websites

The University has several opportunities to utilize the web to disseminate information in an emergency.

The University's homepage www.ohio.edu has an emergency information link. The homepage may also be a standalone site used as the sole release point for emergency information.

The emergency information page www.ohio.edu/emergency is a site where information may be posted as the emergency situation evolves. This site is a link from the University homepage and is regularly used to update the campus community. This site links to other University sites such as OUPD, Counseling and Psychological Services and the Campus Emergency Response Guide which provides procedures to follow in an emergency i.e. evacuation. The site also serves as a site to sign up for the emergency event notification system (text messaging).

CATVision

CATVision is a year-round, 24 hour-a-day service delivered to every student bedroom, apartment and residence hall lounge on the Athens campus. The service is also provided to various academic and administrative locations on campus. Programming to all television monitors connected to CATVision can be interrupted to display an emergency message.

Campus Emergency Call-in Number

A University call-in number has been established to play a short pre-recorded announcement. The number is 740.597.1800 (on Athens campus, 7-1800).

Campus and Local Media

During an emergency related to campus, campus and local media outlets will be notified by University Communications and Marketing and will be updated as the

Policies for Making Timely Warning Reports to the Campus Community

When Ohio University considers a crime to pose an ongoing threat to the safety of the community, “Crime Alerts/Timely Warnings” are distributed throughout campus. Alerts will be issued for the following crimes: arson, aggravated assault, burglary, criminal homicide, motor vehicle theft, robbery, and sex offenses. Crime alerts may also be posted for other crimes as deemed necessary.

Monitoring and Reporting Criminal Activity at Off-Campus Locations Officially Recognized by the Institution

The Ohio University Police Department maintains a close, cooperative relationship with all local, state and federal law enforcement agencies. In addition to joint education and enforcement efforts, the department works through the local police department to monitor and record criminal activity at off-campus locations of student organizations officially recognized by the university, including student organizations with off-campus housing facilities.

Safety of and Access to Campus Facilities Including Campus Residences

The main campus of Ohio University is located on 1,800 acres in southeastern Ohio with 210 buildings. The access to facilities is limited to those who have authorization through their status as students, faculty, staff or visitors in connection with special events or invitation.

Academic and administrative facilities are secured by building or facility occupants or maintenance personnel at the close of the day’s activities and opened in the mornings in the same manner.

Residence halls are for the use and enjoyment of the residents of the building. Exterior doors remain locked with the exception of a main door that is unlocked between the hours of 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. Interior hallway doors are to be locked at all times. Access to the individual rooms is limited to the residents and authorized university employees who must follow procedures established to protect the safety of the residents.

Programs Designed to Inform Students and Employees About Campus Security

The Ohio University Police Department sponsors or participates in various programs designed to inform students, staff and visitors about safety and security issues throughout the year. While attempting to be comprehensive in providing a safe and secure community, it is important that community members be aware of their own safety and that of others in the community. In an effort to provide information to that end, the Ohio University Police Department also provides the following programs to the university community:

RAD- Rape Aggression Defense is a 15-hour self-defense program for women that focuses on mental and physical preparation with a strong emphasis on physical defensive techniques.

CLO – A Community Liaison Officer is assigned to every residence hall to provide formal as well as informal contacts throughout the academic year. Officers provide informational programming on issues for the hall and strive to create avenues of communication for hall residents with a police officer.

Policies Regarding Illegal Drugs and Alcoholic Beverages on Campus

The Ohio University Police Department investigates and enforces drug and alcohol violations occurring on the main campus in cooperation with local, state and federal law enforcement agencies. Violations of drug and alcohol laws will result in criminal prosecution and referral to Ohio University Judiciaries. Judiciary sanctions under the Student Code of Conduct range from short-term probation to expulsion. Ohio University strictly enforces drug and alcohol laws.

Health Promotion located at Baker Center is responsible for substance abuse education and prevention for students. Ohio University also has an alcohol and drug abuse awareness program for employees, which includes an Employee Assistance Program coordinated by the Human Resources Department. The Ohio University Police Department works cooperatively with local law enforcement agencies and organizations such as Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD) to prevent drug and alcohol violations around the university community.

Statement of Policy Regarding Campus Sexual Assault Program to Prevent Sex Offenses, and Procedures to Follow When a Sex Offense Occurs

Statement on Sexual Assault

Sexual assault is defined as any attempted or actual unwanted sexual behavior. Sexual assault occurs along a continuum of intrusion and violation ranging from unwanted sexual comments to forced sexual intercourse. Sexual intrusions and violations of any degree are serious offenses and compromise the integrity of the University community. All forms of sexual assault are criminal offenses as well as violations of the A-4 (Mental or Bodily Harm to Others) provision of the Ohio University Student Code of Conduct. The University hearing board or administrative hearing officer will address three questions in cases of alleged sexual assault. First, “Did an act constituting sexual assault occur?” If the answer to this is yes but no physical contact occurred, the minimum sanction is one quarter suspension. The second question is “Was physical contact involved?” In these cases the minimum sanction is a one-year suspension. The third question is “Did penetration occur during the assault?” In any case where the answer to this question is yes, the accused student will be expelled. The guidelines also state that a presidential interim suspension will always be considered in cases where expulsion is being considered. Students found in violation of this provision are subject to a range of disciplinary sanctions including disciplinary expulsion from Ohio University. In cases of sexual assault, both the accused student and the complainant have rights which are observed through the University judicial process. These rights are contained in their entirety in the Ohio University Student Code of Conduct.

Ohio University is committed to creating an environment free from the threat of sexual assault, while actively responding to the needs of those affected by sexual assault. Consistent with this commitment, Ohio University has created a sexual assault education and prevention program which serves as the primary source for information, advocacy, and referral. Through this program and other departments on campus, Ohio University provides educational workshops and materials, prevention programs, and advocacy. Students affected by sexual assault may also seek assistance through this program in negotiating housing and academic accommodations

Members of the Ohio University community who have been sexually assaulted are strongly encouraged to obtain medical assistance, talk with a counselor, and report the assault to the Ohio University Police Department.

Counseling services are available for students through the Sexual Assault Education and Prevention Program and Counseling and Psychological Services. All services are free.

Survivors are advised to report the assault to the Ohio University Police Department as soon as possible after the incident. Thus, evidence which might otherwise be lost after time has elapsed can be collected. Reporting sexual assault to OUPD in no way compels an individual to pursue a specific course of action. However, reporting does enable an individual to be apprised of the medical, emotional, legal, and university judicial options for dealing with the assault.

Medical attention is important for two reasons:

- Testing and/or medical treatment of sexually transmitted diseases, pregnancy, or physical injuries.
- Evidence collection.

Student Sexual Assault Reporting Protocol

It is the position of Ohio University that if a student alleges a sexual assault, the university has a responsibility to care for the survivor and promptly investigate the incident in the interest of the safety and security of the university community.

The following protocol is to be utilized by any staff member who receives information that an alleged student sexual assault has occurred:

Determine the health and safety needs of the survivor.

When the sexual assault is being reported by a student, the staff member should say to the student, “Based upon what you say, I may be required to have the incident investigated by the University.”* The University is concerned for the survivor’s safety as well as the safety of the larger community.

Whether or not the survivor wants to continue with a description of the incident, the resource packet (provided by Health Promotion) is given to the survivor and resources are discussed.

The staff member is to contact the following:

- OUPD (immediately), and
- University Judiciaries (within one working day)

to provide whatever information is available about the incident, including name of survivor and perpetrator.

Health Promotion (within one working day) to provide the necessary information required by the Campus Security (Clery) Act. OUPD and University Judiciaries will communicate to determine how the case will be investigated. If the survivor is willing to meet, either or both offices will review the case and options for action with the survivor. Whether or not a survivor wants criminal charges pursued, an institutional investigation will still proceed.

As the case is investigated, OUPD and University Judiciaries will determine if there is enough evidence to proceed with the case either through the criminal or university judicial system and take the appropriate course of action (with or without the participation of the survivor). Any deviations from this protocol must be reasonable and documented.

Revised August, 2005

* Health care and mental health professionals are exempt from reporting the specifics of the incident as mandated by HIPPA (Counseling and Psychological Services and Student Health Services). They will, however, need to contact Health Promotion to provide the necessary information required by the Clery Act.

Information on registered sex offenders can be obtained by contacting the Athens County Sheriff's Office at 13 West Washington Street Athens, Ohio 45701 or by telephone at (740) 593-6633, or visit their website at www.athenssheriff.com/ or <http://ohio.esorn.net/search2.php?AgencyID=53904>.
