Announcements

Save energy by dining in the dark on Wednesday

On Wednesday, Feb. 25, from 4:30 to 7 p.m., patrons at Nelson Dining Hall will enjoy the first candlelit dinner at Nelson in over ten years.

The dinner is meant to engage students in the Residence Challenge, an annual seven-week competition between residence halls to conserve the most electricity. The challenge is entering its final three weeks, with Bromley, Biddle and Brown Halls leading in an enthusiastic effort that has saved the equivalent of over 150 tons of carbon dioxide emissions.

Winners of the 2009 competition will participate in an all-expense-paid trip to Cedar Point in May.

Wednesday's dinner is sponsored by the Eco-Reps, a group of residents and resident assistants committed to making on-campus living at Ohio University more environmentally friendly. Find out more about the effort to make OHIO green at the Office of Sustainability's Web site.
