Undergraduate Admissions operates on a holistic, selective review and looks for evidence of academic preparation in a strong college-preparatory curriculum when reviewing applications for admission. We consider the following criteria: strength of curriculum, performance in curriculum, class rank, grade-point average, and ACT and/or SAT scores (if provided).

Ohio University offers a test-optional pathway for admission to the Athens campus. Learn more at ohio.edu/admissions/apply/test-optional. If you choose to submit SAT (school code 1593) or ACT (school code 3314) scores, they must be submitted directly from the testing agency or from your high school.

Ohio University is a member of The Common Application, which opens annually in August at commonapp.org. Learn more at ohio.edu/admissions/apply.

Scholarships

All first-year students who are new to the Athens campus of Ohio University in fall 2024 are eligible for consideration for scholarships at OHIO. The application for admission serves as the application for merit-based scholarships. Fall 2024 first-year students with complete applications by the Early Action Deadline of November 15 will be considered automatically.

Eligibility is based on the following:

- Academic merit as demonstrated by strength of curriculum and cumulative high school grade-point average.
- High school GPA (weighted or unweighted) received by Ohio University by February 15, 2024. We may continue to award using updated credentials on an individual basis throughout the year.
- Either the highest composite ACT or combined SAT total from any test date received by Ohio University by March 1, 2024, if students choose to submit standardized test scores as part of the application for admission. Students who do not submit a test score will be eligible for scholarship consideration.
- For some awards, special academic or geographic contributions.

We also offer scholarships that recognize talent in the College of Fine Arts. Certain highly competitive scholars programs include generous financial support, and additional scholarships for continuing students are available to recognize outstanding academic achievement at OHIO.
