Dear Colleagues,

It’s that time of year again, and as many of you know risk management is an ongoing, year-round process for OHIO, as evidenced by its many Risk Management Initiatives. Next week, November 7-11, is what’s commonly known to the University community as “Risky Business Week” or the University Risk and Insurance Management Association’s (URMIA) Risky Business: A Week Focusing on Risk Management’s Contributions to Higher Education. The goal is to build awareness of how risk management can provide innovative and effective solutions to the challenges facing institutions of higher education in the pursuit of their academic, social, and economic goals.

In furtherance of this valuable work and in support of URMIA’s Risky Business week, OHIO joins in the celebration by participating in a series of dedicated live webinars. You are invited to pre-register (cost-free), listen and learn, then benefit from the most up-to-date information about hot topics. The webinar series is hosted by the premier forum for higher education and risk management, which will help program participants to forward OHIO’s mission in the most risk-savvy manner!

Cathie Chancellor
Risk Manager

If you have any questions about Risk Management, contact Cathie at 740-597-1298 or by e-mail at chancell@ohio.edu

See back for the Risky Business Week schedule and how to register.
Monday, 11/7  1:30-2:30: Who’s That? Managing Volunteers on Campus
Tuesday, 11/8 1:30-2:30 : Drones: An update on the 2016 FAA Regulations and How This Effects Your Institution
Wednesday, 11/9 1:30-2:30: Managing Food Allergies in Higher Education
Thursday, 11/10 1:30-2:30: ERM: It’s Not a Solo Gig (or How to Use Risk Committee Effectively)

What is Risk Management Week?
Risk Management Week, or Risky Business Week, is a week dedicated to highlighting the importance of risk management on campus and helping risk managers spread the word about good risk management practices among their colleagues.

Risky Business features a week-long webinar series, but it’s also about creating a forum for non-risk managers to learn about the importance of local, state and federal regulations, common risks on college and university campuses, and what non-risk managers can do to advance effective risk practices on their campuses.

How Can I Get Involved?
Use the resources on the website to plan your own Risk Management Week events and incorporate our webinar series into your plans. It’s a great time to get everyone together for lunch-and-learns about risks related to student groups, university travel, research, and more. We hope to see you there!

For more information click here!

While same-day registration is available, advanced registration is recommended.
To pre-register, click the link below:
URMIA Risk Management Week Webinar Registration

For all those interested who will miss their subject broadcasts information about later accessing the recorded sessions will be provided. To check out the webinars you might miss, visit the Risk Management & Insurance web page on or after Nov. 21st or check out the URMIA’s webpage at any time!

Remember: Risk management on college campuses is everyone’s job. Risky Business week helps to encourage stakeholders to work with their staff and risk managers to create a culture of risk management that spans the entire year.