KEYNOTE SPEECH: CAROLYN DAVIS (REPORTER, PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER; COMM DEV GRAD 1998)
7:00-8:00 Baker Center Theater
Carolyn Davis is a reporter with the Philadelphia Inquirer. Her articles typically reflect matters of social and global concern. She has written stories focusing on issues that include human trafficking, humanitarian efforts in Haiti after the earthquake, video games designed to promote social awareness, and what malnutrition looks like on a global scale. Carolyn has been on the Editorial Boards of the Philadelphia Inquirer, the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and the Columbus Dispatch. She left journalism for a number of years to be involved with humanitarian relief work in Cambodia, Rwanda, and in the Balkans. She also visited northern Uganda twice to write about the Lord’s Resistance Army’s abuses against children in northern Uganda. Carolyn graduated with a master’s degree from Ohio University’s Communication and Development Studies program in 1998.
