Creating classroom environments and learning experiences that help students become global citizens is a common challenge for many faculty.

Join us in this interdisciplinary Faculty Learning Community to explore and address issues encountered when assessing and redeveloping a course from a global perspective.

The learning community supports President Nellis’s strategic priority to concentrate on strengthening OHIO’s global engagement efforts.

DISCUSSION POINTS

- Incorporating a global perspective into existing, content-rich courses
- Facilitating communication between different student populations
- Increasing international student participation
- Assessing student work from a global perspective

SPONSORS

Office of Instructional Innovation
Office of Global Affairs and International Studies
College of Arts and Sciences

DETAILS

Stipend
Participants receive a $1,000 stipend upon redeveloping a course with a global perspective.

Eligibility
All full-time faculty are eligible for this opportunity.

When and Where
This group will meet for three or four sessions during spring 2019 on the Athens Campus.

Application