

George V. Voinovich Gubernatorial Collection Master Series List (Item Finding Aid)

Series 1: Governor's Office and Personal Staff

Overview

The Governor's Office during the administration of George V. Voinovich consisted of his individual office, an executive assistant, secretaries, personal aides, and staff assistants. This office maintained records that directly and specifically interested the governor. The Governor's own records include general correspondence, subject files, personal books, and memorabilia. The general correspondence includes letters to and from the Governor and constituents, staff, agencies, and local, state, and the national government. This series also includes a chronological list of correspondence from 1991-1997 and an index to boxes containing the correspondence. The subject files include correspondence, reports, initiatives, notes, memos, and association files. The personal books include books presented to the Governor as well as videotapes, brochures, magazines, a stamp album, calendars, and a catalog. The memorabilia includes a wide range of material items from the Governor's offices and the residence.

The executive assistant, Beth Waldren, maintained records that include special assignments categories Cabinet, Operations Improvement Task Force (OIT), Quality Service through Partnership (QStP aka Total Quality Management TQM), Rock and Roll Hall of Fame files. Miscellaneous files include materials related to the above assignments as well as files on Cleveland, capital bills, and special programs and issues. The transition files concern the transfer of the office in 1998.

The Cabinet files are organized in the sub-series' miscellaneous and subject files. The OIT records are in miscellaneous, correspondence, and subject order by agency. The QStP records are subject files including correspondence. The Rock and Roll Hall of Fame records contain clips, correspondence, and printed materials.

The staff assistant's, Bill Byers and Jim Riesbeck, maintained records that include correspondence and responses to requests.

314 cu. ft. The governor's correspondence is arranged chronologically, the subject files are alphabetic, and the books and memorabilia are in no particular order. The staff assistants' records are arranged chronologically.

[Loose] OIT reports & memos on various agencies

Series 1.53: Quality Services through Partnership (QStP)

The governor's Quality Services through Partnership program followed OIT and used some of the recommendations of the latter program to explore and institute a quality implementation plan throughout the executive branch. With help from the private sector, the object was to create quality improvement teams and coordinators and, through them, spread the effort to all management and union employees.

From the 1991 recommendations the first two steps were to include in the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association's bargaining agreement a resolution for joint actions to improve quality. The second step was to bring in an executive from Xerox Corporation to guide the quality improvement effort. From these steps a session was held at a cabinet retreat in January 1992 to explain the mechanics of the program and from there seven agencies (Adjutant General, Administrative Services, Development, Education, Mental Health, Transportation, and Youth Services) agreed to experiment with the process. With these seven agency directors were added the executive director and presidents of five unions, the director of quality, and the director of cabinet affairs to form a Quality Steering Committee.

In April of 1992 the Steering Committee entered three days of training and the creation of a vision statement and an implementation plan. By January 1993 quality coordinators and union liaisons were designated at the agencies and fine-tuning of management/union relations was hammered out. At the same time the Legislature funded the creation of a Quality Office.

From these moves QStP began to spread out in 1994 with the creation of a series of three-day training sessions for all state employees and the formation of teams. Advanced courses were added in 1996. Thus by that year all executive agencies had a quality improvement team in place.

The files are in the following series: correspondence; subjects; and, miscellaneous. The miscellaneous files contain notebooks, reports, folders, and manuals.
