Circle K History

Prepared by Jamie Kaufman, M.D. and E. Co-Chair 2000-2001

The following recollection of the History of the Ohio University Circle K Club is the work of 2000-2001 Membership Development and Education Co-Chair James F. Kaufman. The information was found in old club scrapbooks that have been donated to the Ohio University Archives, old yearbooks found in the Ohio University Archives, and recollections from Faculty Advisor Dr. Howard Dewald and past Faculty Advisor Dr. Cliff Houk, both of the Downtown Athens Kiwanis Club.

The Ohio University Circle K was originally chartered in December of 1953 and was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Athens. It was the 66th club in Circle K International with its Charter Number being 66 (Source??). The club lost its original charter after 1966 and before September 8, 1972, the birth date of the current club charter. The last record of the club was the club picture on page 160 of the 1966 Athena yearbook. The Ohio University Circle K Club was re-chartered on September 8, 1972 by the Kiwanis Club of Athens under the direction of Clifford Houk. By the 1973-1974 administrative year, the club had their first Governor, Robert Gamble. When the Kiwanis Club of Downtown Athens was chartered on January 25, 1973, also under the direction of Clifford Houk, the Kiwanis Club of Downtown Athens became the co-sponsor of the Ohio University Circle K club.

This will be a complete history of the Ohio University Circle K Club and will start with the early years of Circle K in the Ohio District and the history of the 66th club in Circle K International, the original Ohio University Circle K Club.

The Ohio University Circle K Club has a rich history and has always produced strong leaders. Ohio Senator and former Governor George Voinovich was a member of the club in its fledgling years and served as its 4th President during the 1956-1957 school year.

The club was described in the Athena by the following quotation:

"The familiar rhythms of Count Basie were heard on the OU campus through the courtesy of Circle K, sponsors of the Count's concert in Memorial Auditorium. The service fraternity, sponsored by Kiwanis International, also aided in the cancer fund and all campus blood drives. Members ushered at campus events, counted ballots in school elections, and sponsored various recreational cleanup projects in Athens County institutions."

"Now five years old at Ohio University, Circle K continued the work of the "Grey Men's" society; recreational therapy for mental patients. Service was their by-word as they counted ballots in the school elections, sponsored recreation and cleanup projects in Athens County Institutions and aided in the blood drive. Service.....by a service organization.....Kiwanis International."

"A jazz concert, conduction of an election, a dance, a charity drive, service all are part of Circle K's diversified activities.

The crowd of people who filled Memorial Auditorium to hear the Kai Winding Jazz concert in November can thank Circle K for sponsoring that concert.

This service organization monitors elections for Political Week and J-Prom, acts as marshals for Christmas caroling, sponsors a blood drive for the Red Cross and compiles a blood drive for dormitories, fraternities, and sororities.

Probably the outstanding service this group performs is under the auspices of the "Grey Men's Society" which is the male counterpart of the "Grey Ladies Society," an auxiliary of the American Red Cross that performs services in hospitals throughout the nation.

It is thought to be that the "Grey Men's Society" is the first of its kind ever formed. The "Grey Men," members of Circle K, spend each Wednesday evenings at the Athens State Hospital. The primary purpose of their visits is to break the monotony of the patients every day existence, to stimulate their interest in living.

While at the hospital, the "Grey Men" play ping pong, chess, or shuffleboard with the patients or perhaps just talk with them."

On Odd Jobs Day, members did everything from hanging pictures to raking leaves to raise money to further Athens youth activities. They conducted many of the campus elections and marshaled at the Christmas caroling. The club entertained the children of the Athens Children's Home. Both the men and the children enjoyed the party given by the Circle K Club, an affiliate of Kiwanis International and Circle K International."
