On November 8, 2007 at approximately 8:20 pm a dumpster was set on fire inside Weld House on the South Green. Prior to the fire being noticed, three college age males were observed going into the room where the dumpster was being stored. Initially the three males were seen outside Weld House and witnesses indicated they were yelling, most likely trying to gain the attention of someone inside the building, in what was described as an attempt to gain access to the building. Anyone with information about this incident, including who the suspects are, is asked to contact the Ohio University Police Department.
