The Scripps College of Communication at Ohio University consists of five different schools, each offering a variety of majors and programs for students who want to pursue a communication-related career.

To schedule a tour of an individual school, please call that school directly (contact information below). Campus tours and general university information sessions can be scheduled at ohio.edu/admissions/visit.

1. SCHOOL OF COMMUNICATION STUDIES

Programs in this school offer a liberal arts education that also emphasizes the scientific and artistic basis of communication. Students in this school can choose areas of specialization that lead to professional or pre-professional competence in such fields as training and human resources, foreign service, law, politics and government, health, communication, organizational communication, labor-management relations, personnel, campaign administration and poll and survey research. All students complete a complementary concentration in a related area, such as public relations, which provides additional skills and competencies for entering the competitive work environment. To be admitted into Communication Studies, first-year students must meet the minimum requirements for admission into Ohio University. For transfer student admission requirements go to http://www.ohiocommstudies.com. For more information, contact the Associate Director for Undergraduate Studies Jerry Miller, (740) 593-4831 or millerj5@ohio.edu.

2. J. WARREN MCCLURE SCHOOL OF INFORMATION & TELECOMMUNICATION SYSTEMS

Students in the McClure School learn how to use technology to solve business problems. Students learn how to design, supervise and operate telecommunication systems for private industry such as banks, insurance companies and major retailers. They design and market communication services and products on behalf of major telephone companies, Internet service providers, equipment vendors and cellular providers. Students can also apply their expertise on behalf of consulting firms and regulatory agencies. To be admitted into the McClure School, first-year students must meet the minimum requirements for admission into Ohio University. 3. E.W. SCRIPPS SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM

Journalism is a profession that incorporates knowledge from various disciplines, as well as critical thinking and practical application skills. At the E.W. Scripps School of Journalism, the curriculum is blended with a strong liberal arts foundation with professional skills courses and opportunities for students to gain practical work experience. Instead of reporting minimum test scores and GPA requirements, we report the middle 50% range to give a more accurate picture of the students who we are admitting. Typically, incoming freshman meet the following requirements: High school class rank: top 7-34%; ACT composite scores: 24-28; SAT composite scores (Math + Critical Reading): 1050-1250; high school grade point average: 3.64 (4.0 scale). Submitting the application essay is strongly encouraged. For transfer student admission requirements go to http://scrippsschool.org/prospective/admission.php. For more information, contact Associate Director for Undergraduate Studies Eddith Dashiell, (740) 597-3136 or dashiell@ohio.edu.

4. SCHOOL OF VISUAL COMMUNICATION

Programs in this school are designed to equip students with the necessary skills to be successful in the media as working photographers and editors; members of newspaper staffs, press services and magazines; members of industrial photographic departments, trade associations, multimedia and educational media production units; and scientific and cultural communicators. Typically, incoming freshmen meet the following: Class rank top 30% with minimum ACT 21/SAT 990 or top 50% with minimum ACT 23/SAT 1060. For transfer student admission requirements go to http://www.ohio.edu/viscom/undergraduate/. For more information, contact the school at (740) 593-4898.

5. SCHOOL OF MEDIA ARTS & STUDIES

Students who major in Media Arts & Studies go on to work in the music, television, film and digital games industries. They also find jobs as media critics, media managers, entrepreneurs and non-profit organization administrators – using media to change the world. The School of Media Arts & Studies works with the WOUB Center for Public Media, the Game Research and Immersive Design Lab and Ohio University’s School of Film to create a collaborative environment where students can use television studios, music studios, audio, film and video equipment and a variety of computer labs to find the best way to share their imaginations with the world. Admission requirements for first-year students: Class rank top 40% with minimum 23 ACT/1060 SAT. For transfer student admission requirements go to http://mediaschool.ohio.edu/transfer. For more information, contact Associate Director for Undergraduate Studies Brian Plow, (740) 593-4870 or mediaschool@ohio.edu.
