

Health Policy Certificate

Advance your health policy knowledge base.

100% ONLINE

Taught by Health Policy Experts

Ohio University's College of Health Sciences and Professions offers a graduate-level Health Policy Certificate that includes a comprehensive curriculum to help students and working healthcare professionals better understand public health and the health policy environment in the United States. Students will gain fundamental skills in the analysis, interpretation and ability to seek solutions to problems affecting population health and healthcare.

By completing the certificate, students will strengthen their professional practice through enhanced understanding of how health policy impacts the work they do and be prepared to effectively engage with the health policy process as policy advocates, policy analysts or policy influencers.

At Ohio University's College of Health Sciences and Professions, you can earn a Health Policy Certificate at an affordable cost and in a 100% online format.

Online education. Real-world preparation.
