OPERS members contribute 10% of gross annual earnings and the University contributes 14%. OPERS offers a defined benefit and defined contribution plans to new members.

Full-time administrative, bargaining unit and faculty new hires can opt out of OPERS or STRS and choose to participate in the Alternative Retirement Plan (ARP) defined contribution plans [401(a)]. In the first 120 days of employment, an employee will need to make an election to contribute to the appropriate state plan (OPERS/STRS) or to the ARP. The ARP is a defined contribution plan and employees are immediately vested, with the retirement benefit dependent on how their investment grows. Administrative and bargaining unit staff contribute 10% with the University matching with 11.56% (an additional 2.44% is contributed as mitigating rate). Faculty contribute 14% with the University matching 9.53% (an additional 4.47% is contributed as mitigating rate).

Employees may change ARP providers, but once a system is chosen (OPERS/STRS or the ARP), employees must remain in that system throughout their employment with Ohio University.

In the ARP an employee may choose one of the following companies as their provider. Each company offers several investment options.
