Fun with STEM

(Science ~ Technology ~ Engineering ~ Math)

During Enrichment we like to encourage not only physical activities but also social and mental activities while incorporating the use of STEM projects. This month in STEM the students really enjoyed group activities such as Balloon Towers, where the students were challenged to make a free-standing tower made from a few items in a paper bag. Another activity the students participated in was Boats and Buoyancy, an activity where the students made several boats out of paper and aluminum foil and recorded the data of which boat had the most buoyancy by testing them with various weighted objects.
