Dr. Kent J. Smith, Jr.

Dr. Kent J. Smith, Jr. currently serves as the Vice President for Student Affairs at Ohio University. His duties relate to the administrative operation of a number of student services that include Residential Housing, the Campus Involvement Center, Campus Recreation, Community Standards, Career Services, Counseling & Psychological Services, Dean of Students, Baker University Center, and Event Management.

Previously, Dr. Smith served as the Dean of Students at Auburn University in Auburn, Alabama, the Director of the Office of Multicultural Affairs at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio, the Assistant Director of Black Student Services at Colorado State University, and as adjunct faculty in the Center for the Applied Study of American Ethnicity, also at Colorado State University.

Dr. Smith received his Bachelor of Science degree in Secondary Education, and his Master of Education degree in Educational Administration and Supervision from Southern University. The Doctor of Philosophy degree was conferred from Colorado State University (Fort Collins, Colorado), in Education and Human Resource Studies, with a concentration in Educational Administration and Student Affairs.

Dr. Smith resides in Athens, Ohio with his wife Tiffany and three sons – Trey, Tyler, and Trent.
University Mission & Vision

Mission Statement
Ohio University holds as its central purpose the intellectual and personal development of its students. Distinguished by its rich history, diverse campus, international community, and beautiful Appalachian setting, Ohio University is known as well for its outstanding faculty of accomplished teachers whose research and creative activity advance knowledge across many disciplines.

Vision Statement
Ohio University will be the nation’s best transformative learning community where students realize their promise, faculty advance knowledge, staff achieve excellence, and alumni become global leaders.

Division Highlights:

Mission of the Division of Student Affairs:
The Division of Student Affairs at Ohio University prepares students to be responsible and contributing members of a diverse, global society by providing learning-centered environments, meaningful out-of-class opportunities, and professional support services that help them learn through their experience and achieve academic success. In seeking to accomplish our mission, we are committed to:

- Encouraging the development of the whole student and involving all students in the life of the University.
- Cultivating a caring and civil campus community that values responsible and ethical behavior, open and free exchange of ideas, and respect for all people.
- Maximizing our effectiveness through responsible stewardship of resources, support of innovation, and creativity in problem solving.
- Working collaboratively and forming partnerships with each other, with our colleagues across campus and with the community.
- Fostering a participative work environment for our staff which encourages continuous improvement, collaboration, professional development and a balanced lifestyle.

Faculty Contribution Award
Recipients for 2011-2012

The purpose of the Student Affairs Faculty Contribution Award is to formally recognize faculty members who contribute significantly to the goals and activities of the Division of Student Affairs at Ohio University. Recipients must demonstrate a genuine interest in the development of students at Ohio University beyond the classroom as evidenced by participation in the goals and activities of the Division of Student Affairs.

The award was presented at this year’s 29th Annual Leadership Awards Gala on May 23, 2012 to:

Susan Tice-Alicke, Ph.D.
Associate Professor, College of Arts and Sciences

Tom Vander Ven, Ph.D.
Associate Professor, College of Arts and Sciences
Ohio University community members take great pride in our institution. We are proud of our distinguished history and heritage, our beautiful campus, the renowned reputation of our faculty, our active and committed student body and of our partnerships with the southeast region of our state. Together with our five core values of character, community, citizenship, civility and commitment, this sense of pride defines who we are and helps to clarify the promise of what it means to be a member of the OHIO community.

Community
Membership in the Ohio University community includes being involved and responsible members of not only the university community, but also the local Athens community and the global community. All members of the OHIO community are expected to be responsible community members, to show appreciation for diversity and to represent the values of the OHIO community.

Character
“Ohio University holds as its central purpose the intellectual and personal development of its students” is the first sentence of OHIO’s mission statement. Personal integrity and character both inside and outside of the classroom are inherent elements of Ohio University. Members of the OHIO community are expected to commit to the highest standards of personal honesty and ethical behavior.

Civility
The OHIO community is an open forum involving the free exchange of ideas and scholarly discourse. For free and open exchange to occur, members of the OHIO community are expected to embrace civility in communication at all times.

Citizenship
Members of the OHIO community contribute to the advancement of society, both now and for future generations. Such a community to the public sphere can have many expressions, such as voting, recycling, volunteering, using public transportation and cleaning up litter. The OHIO citizen gives more than they take. They are responsible citizens both on and off campus, foster community involvement, become engaged citizens acting for the public good, and respect university property and property of others.

Commitment - The OHIO Promise
Sincere and true commitment is practicing your beliefs and values. Once you have committed yourself to becoming a community member at OHIO, you commit to hold yourself and your fellow OHIO community members to these values.
The Campus Involvement Center’s mission is to provide meaningful, high quality out-of-class opportunities through programs and experiences that foster:
